Advancing Patient-Oriented Research: Resources, Experiences and Available Supports

Patient-Oriented research (POR) is about engaging with patients, caregivers, and families as partners in health research. It constitutes a higher level of engagement in all areas of health research that streamlines knowledge mobilization and research impacts.

Join us for a live presentation and discussion panel of Patient-Oriented Research in British Columbia including a unique panel with academics, patient-partners and POR staff including discussing POR foundations, shared experiences, and available supports.

Presenters:

Davina Banner-Lukaris, Shayna Dolan and Leana Garraway (UNBC), Marc Bains and Sherri Mytopher (Patient-Partners) and Rhyann Fairbrother (BC SUPPORT Unit)
